In this case, the client approached us direct to assist them in finding an efficient way to reduce the glare and heat gain experienced in their busy first and second floor offices. The East, South and West elevations were very exposed, and an alternative was sought to the more usual roller, venetian or vertical louvre solutions.

We manufactured and installed 136 VS1 model Cosiflor pleated blinds in a very cool looking charcoal grey fabric, that had been treated with a reflective Perlex coating to significantly reduce heat and glare. The extruded aluminium hardware was powder coated to match the window frames for an integrated appearance. The hand operated blinds were made to install within each of the glazing frames which made this solution very versatile in use.
